

Kamloops 70th Provincial Winter Fair

SPONSORSHIP PROGRAM

September 26 to 29, 2008

Why Sponsor?

Economic Importance of Agriculture Fairs

British Columbia has over 50 agriculture fairs and festivals each year, representing one of the longest-standing and most successful means to highlight agriculture for thousands of British Columbians.

Fairs and exhibitions have a significant impact on the economy of British Columbia. They are gathering places for the public, both young and old and offer the public a place to meet, compete and volunteer their services. Not only do fairs and exhibitions have an economic benefit, they also offer many tangible benefits to every community. Given the impact of demographic shifts, there are several reasons to improve the awareness of agriculture. In many ways, the general population will influence the evolution of agricultural policy.

Educational Goals

Provincial Winter Fair continues to promote public health standards as a result of the agriculture industry implementing food safety and quality systems for the prevention, early detection and control of plant and animal pests and diseases, and food-borne health risks. Our fair provides information and handouts describing control of noxious weed management on Crown and private land.

The need for food provides every person with an interest in agriculture and food production in British Columbia. Provincial Winter Fair promotes adoption of systems so BC products can be traced from production to retail. The economic votes that food consumers make in the market place have a direct impact on the well being of BC's agricultural sector. Food production, its security, quality and quantity, is the foundation of our overall health.
